

Session Name: Happy New Year Edition

Session Introduction

Happy New Year! We hope you had a good festive break. As you may have noticed our something for the weekend sessions had a little holiday too, but we are back this week.

Instead of waiting until Friday I thought I would throw a little session out there for you now, to enjoy this week.

This is a session with a bit of fast work, a few focussed drills, and some swim sections to get you thinking about the movements. We delivered a similar version of this in one of our Christmas/ New year week sessions and it got some great feedback.

As with all our released session plans, feel free to adjust distances and number of blocks performed to suit your training schedule, fitness and available pool time.
